

CENTER FOR THE HUMANITIES

presents a new series

A CENTURY OF WAR:

1914 and Beyond

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16

Chris Hedges

Pulitzer-prize winning journalist and author

4:15 P.M., BUCKSBAUM CENTER FOR THE ARTS, ROOM 152

Q&A with Chris Hedges

Moderated by Sarah Purcell, Director of the Rosenfield Program

7:30 P.M., JOE ROSENFELD '25 CENTER, ROOM 101

War is the Force that Gives us Meaning

Pulitzer-prize winning journalist and author Chris Hedges, who spent two decades as a war correspondent, most of them with The New York Times, will address the pathology of modern warfare. Hedges will draw on historical examples of modern warfare, as well as his experience covering conflicts in Central America, Africa, the Middle East and the Balkans.

Co-sponsored by Center for Humanities and Rosenfield Program in Public Affairs, International Relations, and Human Rights.

All events are open to the public.

GRINNELL COLLEGE

ROSENFELD PROGRAM

in public affairs, international relations, and human rights