Book Talks (New Series)

Goal/Purpose of these discussions:

The Humanities Center would like to begin a new monthly event entitled “Booktalks.” This will be a panel of three short presentations on a particularly influential work, creative work, or a critical/theoretical text that you have used in your teaching or scholarship. Books that you have re-visited, reconsidered, or had a continuing but varying relationship with would be especially interesting for these presentations. We are looking for books that have been studied across different disciplines.
